Man Arrested after He Attacks Pregnant Woman

Date/Time: 10-30-13 @ 7:10p.m.
Location: 4900 block of Wichita
Victim: Female, 31 years old of the 4900 block of Wichita
Subject: Corey Bernard Moss, 19 years old of Fort Bliss, Tx

El Paso, TX – Crimes Against Person's Detectives have charged a man for Criminal Attempt Capital Murder after he is believed to have attacked a 31 year old woman while she was inside of her home. The call was received at around 7:10p.m., October 30, 2013 when the victim called 911 to report that she had been attacked. Northeast Patrol officers responded to the home and located a 31 year old pregnant female who had been brutally attacked. El Paso Fire/Medical responded and transported the victim to University Medical Center where she was last reported to be in critical condition. The unborn child is reported to be in good condition. Officers requested assistance from the Crimes Against Person's (CAP) unit who responded and took over the investigation. The suspect, identified as 19 year old Corey Bernard Moss, was located by Fort Bliss Military Police and turned over to investigators. Detectives have learned that Moss was inside of the victims home when she arrived home and then attacked her with a knife. The victim suffered stab wounds to her face and body as well as fractures that were sustained during the attack. The apparent motive in this case involved money which was owed to the victim by Moss for vehicle repairs. Moss has been booked into the El Paso County Detention Facility for Criminal Attempt Capital Murder. Bond was set at $60,000.00.
